

Lindsey Boullt: Composition

Lindsey Boullt's second album entitled "Composition", was released last June, 2007. An established guitarist, composer and instructor in the San Francisco area, Boullt is a teacher at the renowned Guitar Institute. He is also the founder of the "Musician's Showcase", a highly respected forum for up and coming musicians, bands and students in the San Francisco Bay area. Containing ten original compositions and including an impressive cast of musicians, "Composition" is an intense album charged with influences ranging from metal and middle eastern music to jazz-rock and everything in between. Boullt is a musician of an eclectic nature. The album features artists such as violinist Jerry Goodman, keyboardist Derek Sherinian, bassist Stu Hamm, and drummer Atma Anur among others; a great band that feels at home playing complex passages and odd time meters. "Composition" has enough punch throughout to keep you listening. It is strong and somewhat dark. Boullt with no doubt is a great player, not only he has the chops, but he has great musicality as well. I would not be surprised to see him on the next G3 lineup.

Memorable Tracks: Page Revisited, Moving Panvishnu, Aurora's Aura, Groovin' with Stu, Cleopatra's Third Eye.

Track Listing:

1. Page Revisited
2. Chasing The Whirling Dervish
3. Moving Panvishnu
4. Call For Peace
5. Bravo Davo De La Torre
6. Aurora's Aura
7. Groovin' With Stu
8. Taste The Hate
9. Farewell
10. Cleopatra's Third Eye